

AIRS Accreditation
v.
CARF Accreditation:
*A Comparison

AIRS is the international association of the Information and Referral (I&R) sector. AIRS has published Standards and provides an accreditation program that assesses an I&R program against those Standards.

CARF offers dozens of accreditation programs for the nonprofit sector. They have a common organizational review, in addition to requiring additional details for many specialties.

CARF is better known by funders and stakeholders, and there have been situations where I&R programs have been asked to provide CARF accreditation. Should that be the case, this document shows the differences and similarities between AIRS and CARF accreditation in the context of I&R.

For a funder seeking the security of identifying a quality I&R program, AIRS accreditation is clearly a better option.

If a funder is unsure, the AIRS Executive Director (at info@airs.org) is very willing to engage in a conversation/presentation to fully explain the situation.

inflection to convey empathy and engagement

- Make accurate assessment of the inquirer's problems and needs asking relevant questions to discover the information necessary for an accurate referral
- Explore when appropriate, to see if there is a more serious underlying or unstated problem.
- Confirm whether there are specific preferences or requirements such as language needs, evening or weekend hours, proximity to public transportation, access for persons with disabilities
- Clarify and confirm need(s) using techniques such as paraphrasing before providing referrals
- Provide various approaches to addressing situation that give a range of options
- Explore the inquirer's own resources (e.g., friends, family, faith-based community)
- Effectively use the I&R's resource information system to identify resources to meet needs
- Where possible and practical, provide at least three referrals to give inquirer a choice while being careful not to overwhelm the inquirer with too many options
- Suggest ways inquirer can advocate for oneself when appropriate (empowerment)
- If demographic information is being collected that is not directly relevant to the assessment, e.g., if required by contract or to enhance community reports, provide an explanation to the inquirer about why the information is needed. The primary goal of data collection is to gather enough information about the inquirers to help them address and/or resolve the problem

- Encourage inquirer to call back
- Policy and procedures for handling transactions via IM/chat, text/SMS messaging or other forms of social media
- Confidentiality policies that address privacy of client records or use of Caller ID or other applicable technology
- Sample of the form that is signed by I&R staff agreeing to the confidentiality policy
- Nondisclosure form signed by others with access to confidential information
- Advocacy policy and procedures
- Proof of AAS certification or CONTACT USA accreditation (if skipping the Crisis Intervention section)
- Signed, written agreement with the crisis intervention center with which I&R service has an arrangement
- Crisis intervention policies and procedures which must address: Lethality risk assessment procedures; Call handling procedures for specific types of emergencies; A staff debriefing protocol; Rescue services
- Mandatory reporting requirements for child abuse and elder/dependent adult abuse
- Crisis protocol per agreement with the local crisis center

- Follow-up results report
 - A complete and current, finished, and formatted report of I&R activities including:
 - Total number of inquiries
 - Total number and type of problem/needs presented by inquirers
 - The number and/or percentage of AIRS Accreditation v. CARF Accreditation: A Comparison 7 inquiries involving Information only, Assessment and referral, Assessment without referral, Crisis intervention and Advocacy
 - Geographic and other demographic information about inquirers in aggregate form to protect the confidentiality of inquirers
 - Met/unmet needs
 - An explanation or a user guide to the reports provided for those on distribution list
 - A list of agencies/organizations to which the reports were provided
 - Provide definitions of Terminology used to categorize contacts (Typically, this is a list of definitions of the types of calls received and documented for reporting purposes, including information calls, advocacy calls, crisis intervention calls, information and assessment, or information and referral calls, etc.)

RESOURCE DATABASE SECTION

(This is a summary – the details span several pages)

Early in the accreditation process, the Resource Database gets a thorough inspection. Peer reviewers assess the following:

- Inclusion/Exclusion Policy
- Style Guide
- Customized List of Taxonomy terms used
- Database maintenance procedures
- Description of service area (including counties, towns, or regions)
- Report showing formal update dates
- List of agency names and their legal status type/agency type for comparison with stated Inclusion/Exclusion policy
- Target Term Use policy

RESOURCE DATABASE SECTION

There is nothing outlined in the CARF accreditation materials that speaks to how to curate nor maintain a quality resource database.

DISASTER PREPARATION

- Emergency Operations and Business Contingency Plans.
- A disaster-related service request report
- Details on providing direct service before, during and after a disaster

ORGANIZATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS

- The roster for Board of Directors/Advisory Committee
- Governance and Administrative policies and procedures manual(s)
- Most recent audit or review for the organization
- An organization chart that reflects all of the positions within agency. If part of a larger organization, submit a functional organization chart for the I&R service. The organization chart must be aligned with the job descriptions requested below
- Job descriptions for all of the positions within the I&R service
- Standardized form and screening procedure used to evaluate each candidate's application or resume against the I&R staff position requirements
- Employment interview questions for each of the positions within I&R service and the rating form used to evaluate responses
- Succession plan for key staff
- Policies and procedures relating to the use of off-site I&R staff
- Backup policies and procedures
- Training manual that shows a detailed list of all topics covered in database curator training program
- Detailed, day-by-day training agenda for both community resource specialists and database curators that outline objectives, training methods (how material is presented) and materials, timeframes and outcomes for each section.
- Examples of subjective and/or objective

ORGANIZATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS

The CARF Accreditation has a generic section that covers the following areas under the (trademarked) label of 'ASPIRE to Excellence':

The goal of ASPIRE is to "provide a logical, action-oriented approach to ensure that organizational purpose, planning, and activity result in the desired outcomes."

(Note the majority of these are parallel to the Organization Effectiveness section of the AIRS standards – although others are included within the AIRS Service Delivery area)

evaluation tools used for measuring an I&R trainee's level of competency

- I&R training and trainer evaluation form
- Outreach report for the I&R service describing the plan, the outputs and outcomes (what was accomplished)
- Sample written supervision plan for I&R staff
- Observation forms that are used for I&R staff
- Performance appraisal forms that are used for I&R staff
- Sample individualized performance improvement plan for I&R staff
- Summary report from call management system/ACD documenting call volume, number of abandoned calls, average speed of answer and average call length
- Rating sheet for I&R call monitoring
- Most recent customer satisfaction/quality assurance report for the I&R service
- Written goals, objectives and I&R service work plan for the current year
- Most recent evaluation report for the I&R service

ANNUAL CHECK-IN

Once an agency is AIRS Accredited, they must complete an annual update. This is in the form on an online survey.

Accredited agencies are required to notify AIRS of any changes that negatively affect compliance with the Accreditation Criteria; and to assure that the I&R Service continues to follow the Accreditation requirements, program is required to respond to an annual questionnaire reporting on the status of organization and its activities.

The required information covers:

ANNUAL CHECK-IN

To demonstrate its ongoing conformance to the CARF standards, an accredited provider completes a Quality Improvement Plan after receiving the accreditation report and submits an Annual Conformance to Quality Report each year throughout the accreditation term.

- Have hours of service changed over the past year?
 - Has program funding changed by more than 10% over the past year?
 - Have there been any changes in senior management over the past year?
 - Were there any problems identified in last financial audit?
 - Is organization involved in any civil or criminal litigation?
 - Provide details about 1-2 community initiatives that I&R program has been involved in over the past 12 months.
 - Attach an annual report or similar program report
